

Transfer Factor Spray™

TWO AMAZING INGREDIENTS, ONE POWERFUL FORMULA

Daily Immune System Support

Available as an easy-to-dispense, orange flavored throat spray, Transfer Factor Spray is a great-tasting formula that combines Colloidal Silver with the immune support of Transfer Factor XF. It contains no artificial colors, flavors, sweeteners or preservatives. And, as you spray it within your mouth, Transfer Factor Spray directly affects one of the most common points of entry into your body, making it an amazing daily nutritional supplement.

Transfer Factor and Colloidal Silver both play beneficial roles, establishing 4Life's Transfer Factor Spray as one of the foremost cutting-edge wellness products available today.

Key Points

- Colloidal Silver: Long known for its health-promoting properties, silver stands out as an amazing element in the development of a strong immune system. Ancient Persian, Babylonian and Greek civilizations were all aware of silver's properties, and therefore utilized silver containers for storing and transporting water dating back to 4000 B.C. Today, Colloidal Silver has been touted as one of the most effectively absorbed forms of silver.

4Life's Colloidal Silver is the result of combining a new patent-pending technology with the long-known beneficial health properties of silver. It has been shown to be two to three times more effective than the other Colloidal Silver products tested. Its bioavailability exceeds 99 percent. This is in large contrast to other Colloidal Silver products currently on the market with bioavailabilities ranging from 15-65%.¹

- Transfer Factor XF: 4Life's proprietary concentration of transfer factors derived from bovine colostrum. Using an exclusive and patented extraction process licensed to 4Life (US Patent 4,816,563), the key immune elements that Mother Nature provides through colostrum are extracted, resulting in a high concentration of transfer factors to increase the health of your immune system. These unique messenger molecules educate your immune system and provide the vital information necessary to perform its three principal functions: recognize, respond and remember.
- Convenient and Effective: Its unique and effective spray delivery system makes Transfer Factor Spray easy to carry with you and use throughout the day.

Did you know?

Prior to the discovery of Penicillin in 1934, silver was frequently used by physicians for a variety of medical purposes.

As we get older, our immune system's ability to respond effectively to threats and keep the body well decreases dramatically. Stress, poor eating habits and other environmental factors all place enormous amounts of pressure on our immune systems, making it more and more difficult to fight against the pathogens in our world.

Technical Points

- With more than 50 years of research and 3,000 scientific papers backing it up, the safety and outstanding immune system benefits of transfer factors have been established by world-leading scientists and physicians.
- Colloidal Silver is simply a suspension of silver particles in purified water. Silver provided in this form is highly absorbable, therefore improving its overall health benefits.
